HFA Certification Now Accepted Globally

Following LPPOM-MUI, Indonesia acceptance, HFA certification is now recognised worldwide.

As a result of a rigorous audit carried out by Majelis Ulama Indonesia (MUI) in March 2015, the HFA are delighted to formally announce that we have received confirmation from LPPOM-MUI that our practices fully comply with their standards. We have now officially been recognised and accredited by the prestigious Indonesian authority (decree number D-240/MUI/VII/2015).

We are now accepted and recognised by Indonesia as a reputable halal certifier of meat, poultry and processed foods.

Following this outstanding news, this means that the HFA certification is now accepted globally; the HFA are the only halal certification body in the UK to be recognised worldwide.

This is fantastic news for the UK halal industry and we look forward to continuing our endeavours and playing a key role in the development and expansion of the global halal industry.

Notes to Editors:

Halal Food Authority (HFA) is an independent, voluntary, not-for-profit organisation operating as a commercial wing of a registered charity. The objective of HFA is to facilitate the Muslim Ummah to be partial to genuinely manufactured halal food in compliance with HFA Halal Standards, Islamic Jurisprudence and relevant EU regulations in vogue. Simultaneously, HFA creates awareness of halal principles and axioms for halal production within food industry, consumers and various national and international forums.
